ABSTRACT : Entrepreneurship plays a very important role in the development of any nation. The entrepreneurship leads to the creation of capital as well led to the generation of many social benefits. However, entrepreneurship is not so popular and common in the developing nation like of India and more specifically the agrarian state of Assam. According to Census '2011 Rural Assam constitutes around 85.92% of state population. Among rural population females constitute 48.88%. In contrast to urban female folk, majority of rural women folk are engaged in agricultural activities along with male member of the society. Even in recent days many women entrepreneurs from rural Assam has emerged too. There exist an immense possibility of enhancing the entrepreneurial capabilities of rural women and such enhanced capabilities will help in revolutionizing the economy of Assam and rural Assam more specifically.

Through this study, the researchers have tried to throw some lights on problems and opportunities for rural women in the area of entrepreneurship.

Keywords: Entrepreneurship, Capabilities, Economic revolution and Rural women.

I. Introduction:

The women consist of around 50% of global population. They share equal burden of living a life along with the man folk. Since time immemorial, we find them busy in housekeeping activities. Whenever we think about any activities other than housekeeping, it is been the man whose picture comes in our mind first. Even history reflects the same. Only few name of woman comes in our mind against the thousands names of man. It is true to India and its state of Assam too. In Assam, women's participation is significant only in agriculture, nursing and teaching. Women's contribution in other economic activities is very pitiable.

The 12th Five-year plan of India has given more thrust on Inclusive growth. The term inclusive growth is not been defined in the plan. It can be understand as the participation of each section of the society in the country's progress and enjoying the benefit by all. One of the important dimensions of inclusive growth is women's direct participation in nation's progress. The participation of women in economic activities not only helps in propelling the economy of the country but at the same time, it will help in women empowerment. Empowerment refers to decision-making power. Economic independence will help the women to make their own decision. Government of India along with the state governments of different states has understood the importance of women empowerment and its impact and accordingly they have started to give importance to Women Entrepreneurship.

Entrepreneurship is the activities undertaken by the entrepreneur in the pursuit of entrepreneurial objective. Many writers in many ways have defined entrepreneur. According to J B Say, “An entrepreneur is an important agent of production who gets together other factors of production. He is the economic agent who unites all means of production i.e. the labour, the capital and he finds the value of products which result from their employment, reconstitution of the capital that he utilises, the interest and the rent which he pays as well as profits belonging to himself.” In the words of Joseph A. Schumpeter “The entrepreneur in an advanced economy is an individual who introduces something new in the economy= a method of production not yet tested by branch of manufacture concerned, a product with which consumers are not yet familiar, a new source of raw material or of new market and the like.” So, in simple words entrepreneurs may refer to those who employs innovativeness in their business activities in the pursuit of earning profit. Innovativeness may be in the production method, product, or source of raw material or newer market.

Women entrepreneurship refers to the activities related to managing and owning of business enterprise by a woman or group of woman. Government of India has defined women entrepreneurs as an enterprise owned and controlled by women having a minimum financial interest of 51% of the capital and giving at least 51% of employment generated in the enterprise to women. The definition given by the government of India lacks practical applicability because of employment generation clause. Requirement of providing 51% of total employment of the enterprise to woman is very irrational. So in general understanding, the women entrepreneur are those women who own and run their business enterprise in the pursuit of earning profit by taking risk and providing employment opportunities for others.

In Indian context, women entrepreneurship is a revolutionary concept. It provides many good to the woman, the family and the society as a whole. In India, the role of woman in decision-making is very limited. Forget about family or social decision, many could not even take decision in their personal area of interest. The very first advantage of the women entrepreneurship is economic independence. Economic independence has very positive correlation with women empowerment. This economic independence will provide them with pride and confidence to take part in decision-making process. The process of entrepreneurship will help women to learn many things about the management. The entrepreneurial activities and experience earned has very positive effect on the development of personality. In the future, they shall not be treated as dependent part of the society or the object of oppression. That means lesser crimes against woman. They will gain more social space and recognition. Advantage in the economic point of view are like contribution in the GDP, employment generation, resource utilisation, poverty reduction, improve standard of living, balanced regional growth, distribution of income and many more.

The benefits of the women entrepreneurship are very much important in the development of the society as a whole. However, such activities in the state of Assam are very negligible. Whatever woman entrepreneurs are available in Assam, mostly are urban based. The situations in rural areas are very pathetic. As per 2011 census, more than 86% of total women population of Assam are residing in rural area. The contribution of such huge chunk of women population in entrepreneurial activity is nearly invisible. Such scenario is however very detrimental in the growth of the state and at the same time against the spirit of inclusive growth. The poor figure of rural women entrepreneurship has immensely influence the researchers to carry out this study.

II. Objectives of the Study:

The following are the objectives based on which the present study is been carried out:

1. Identify the factors responsible for slow growth of women entrepreneurial activities in rural Assam.
2. Study the prospects for the development of women entrepreneurship in rural Assam.

III. Methodology :

The study is both explanatory as well as descriptive in nature. The data is been collected from primary sources as well as secondary sources. Primary sources includes direct interview with select rural women, faculty of Indian Institute of entrepreneurship Guwahati, faculty of IIBM Guwahati, bank official of SBI and UBI and discussion with different resource person. The secondary sources used are like journals, research papers, books, websites of different banks, census, institution etc.

IV. Result and Discussion :

A) PROBLEMS:

The growth of rural entrepreneurship among women in rural areas is not satisfactory. Women in rural areas suffer with many problems that create hurdles in their entrepreneurial activities. Many even could not start their venture. Failure rate is also very high in rural areas. The problems of women entrepreneurship in rural areas of Assam can be discussed at three different levels viz. Individual problems, Social problems and Structural problems.

a) Individual Problems

Individual problems are personal in nature and the degree of control over it is very high. Such problems are very important as the entrepreneurship is highly about personal aspirations and lot depend on individual efforts. The individual problems suffered by rural women entrepreneurs are as follows:

- Motivation: Motivation is very important element of entrepreneurial activities. It is the only motivation which keeps an individual to work harder. Women rural entrepreneurs lacks motivation.

- Pre reserved: Women rural entrepreneurs does not have much time for entrepreneurial activities as they have to attend other activities like household works, agricultural task, social ceremony etc.
- Over burdened: Women entrepreneurs in rural areas are over burdened with many task. Such condition does not allow thinking or concentrating on entrepreneurial activities.
- Education: Though, it is been said that to be an entrepreneur you may not need education but it is been observed that education also plays very important role in entrepreneurial activities. The education rate among women entrepreneurs in rural areas is very low.
- Technical knowhow: Many rural women entrepreneur suffers from technical problem. They do not possess marketing techniques too.
- Awareness: The women in rural areas are not much aware about the availability of opportunities for the development of entrepreneurship like financial assistance, training assistance and many more.
- Inferior complexity: The women entrepreneurs in rural areas are very stereotyped about their capability. They think they are inferior to man folk.
- Emotional attachment: The women entrepreneurs in rural areas are highly emotionally attach with the home, their family member and their household task. They felt restless even staying away for a day.
- Feeling insecurity: The women entrepreneurs in rural areas feel very insecure. The insecurity may be about physical insecurity or social insecurity or economic insecurity. They feel very much insecure while dealing with the men and at the same time they are afraid of social taboos. The loss aspect of the business always bothers them.
- Finance: Though many academician believes finance is one of the very least important factor for entrepreneurial growth but through common person's view it is not so. Many could not start business and many could not sustain the same due to unavailability of finance.

b) Social Problems

Society is a very strong factor in the development of entrepreneurial activities. They create opportunities as well as obstacles in the process of entrepreneurship development. Social problems are been better understood in following ways:

- Role expectation: An Assamese woman is always been expected to be a good homemaker. They are always expected to play with best the roles of mother, sister, daughter, daughter and laws etc. They are never expected to be businesspersons by family or society to run a business. This role expectation creates a big hurdle in the growth of entrepreneurial activities among the woman.

- Social Taboos: While carrying out entrepreneurial activities, a woman has to undertake journeys, have to meet many men or women, and have to spend times outside home. Such acts are still been considered as taboos in Assamese society and especially in rural Assam.
- Male dominance: Assamese society is still patriarchal society. The women are still highly dependent on their male counterpart regarding decision-making. Many a times their decisions are overturned or suppressed. It is very difficult for them to move an inch without the permission of male member of the family. Prevalence of such situation is very high in rural Assam.
- Social norms: Social norms are also creating problems for the rural women of Assam in their entrepreneurial venture. Social norms like, what the majority of women are doing you can do that. Women are busy in tailoring job, so a woman can start a tailoring business. However, to start a new business that is not a social norm is a hard nut to crack.
- Family support: The most important aspect for entrepreneurial activities is family support. Family supports provide them a base, a motivation to start their business. However, many a time family does not support such plans by the women. There may be many reasons as stated above for lack of support by the family. The lack of family support is causing hindrances in the growth of women entrepreneurship in rural areas of Assam.

c) Structural Problems

Structural problems refer here to the problems that are related to actions from the governments. Government is the sole authority to prepare and implement the policies regarding different sphere of the state. Unless and until government does not initiate and implement the policies effectively for the development of women entrepreneurship in rural Assam, the growth of such activities won't be achieve in reality. Some of the structural problems may be discussed as follows:

- Government attraction: Women entrepreneurship development in rural areas was not an attractive area of for policy making for the government of Assam. Very lately, the state government started to give importance to it. However, it is not sufficient to develop women entrepreneurs in rural areas through making policy only.
- Institution: The institutions available for providing training and development are inadequate. The available institutions are urban centric in nature. Their concentration in rural areas is not appreciable. The lack of specialised institution in rural areas is also adding the problems.

- Communication: The government has also prepared many financial schemes and are funding different institutions for training and development of entrepreneurs. However, such information is not widely available with the women in rural Assam. Unavailability of proper information is prohibiting rural women to start and to grow in entrepreneurial activities.
- Infrastructure: Lack of scientific godowns, warehouses, cold storage, road communication, electricity problems, irrigation problem, etc., is creating obstacles in the growth of entrepreneurial activities.

B) PROSPECTS:

Though there is lots many problems that are creating hurdles for the women entrepreneurship in rural Assam, the prospects of growth cannot be underestimated. The government of India and the banks and financial institutions are playing an important role for the development of women entrepreneur. The prospect for the development of women entrepreneurs is possible, when the government, social and financial institution collectively takes initiative. The central government have introduced several schemes for facilitating the women for setting up their business. Government of India has entrusted the responsibility for the development of micro, small and medium enterprise to Ministry of MSME. Ministry of MSME has launched many schemes for the development of entrepreneurship. More thrust is been provided to the assistance of women entrepreneurs. A few of the schemes are highlighted below:

- Entrepreneurship development schemes by different institution:
  - Under the MSE Cluster Development Programme by Ministry of MSME, the Ministry contributes up to 90% of the total project cost in case of soft intervention and hard intervention to women entrepreneurs and it is up to 40% assistance in case of infrastructure development.
  - Under the Trade Related Entrepreneurship Assistance and Development (TREAD) Scheme for women, the ministry of MSME grants up to 30% of the total project cost to the NGOs for entrepreneurship among women. Ministry also grant up to Rs.1 lakh per programme to training institutions / NGOs for imparting training to the women entrepreneurs. Up to Rs.5 lakh is also provided to National Entrepreneurship Development Institutions and any other institutions of repute for undertaking field surveys, research studies, evaluation studies, designing of training modules etc.

however, the extent of guarantee cover is 80% for MSEs operated and/ or owned by women.

- The National Credit Fund for Women (NCFW) commonly known as Rashtriya Mahila Kosh (RMK) assists women in informal sector. RMK extends micro credit through MFIs for various activities including setting up of micro enterprises.
- The SIDBI has also launched women special schemes. Under Mahila Udyam nidhi, women entrepreneurs are been provided with equity finance for setting up new projects in tiny or small sector and rehabilitation of viable sick industry. Under Scheme for Women Entrepreneur, women entrepreneurs are been assisted in setting up of SSI unit.
- The NEDFi also provides women centred schemes like Women Enterprise Development Scheme (WEDS), Scheme for North East Handloom and Handicrafts (SNEHH) etc.
- Government of Assam in general has provided with different schemes for the generation of employment and entrepreneurs. The schemes like Kalapataru (finance), Chief Minister Self Employment Scheme (stipend while training with travelling expenses), CM Special Schemes (power tiller), Handloom and textiles (yarn) etc.
- Through different policies like Assam Industrial Policy 2008 and Assam IT policy 2009, the government of Assam has tried to develop the women entrepreneurship by giving various assistance and incentives.
- Commercial banks are also providing different type of schemes for the development of women entrepreneurs. Such schemes are tabulated as follows.

- Training and development opportunity: Establishment of the institutes like Indian Institute of Entrepreneurship at Guwahati, State Institute for Rural Development, etc., for providing the training and development programme has created an immense scope for the development of aspiring entrepreneurs. Even the institutions like Assam veterinary college, MSME Development Institutes, Etc., are providing the training and development programme in different spheres of business. The commercial banks are also conducting various training programme for the development of entrepreneurial activities in the state.

V. Conclusion:

The entrepreneurship development is a very noble concept. Such concept can also use to empower the women section of the society. The women in the rural areas are subject to lots of restrictions in Assam. They are not regarded as economic powerhouse, rather they are treated as dependent part of the society. Though they equally possesses the potentialities to become a successful entrepreneur but the problems they face which are not similar to the men's problems, creates hindrances in the growth of entrepreneurial activities. The women of rural areas face different types of problems in the path of entrepreneurial growth. But, at the same time they also exist opportunity for them in terms like assistances from different institutions in each sphere of entrepreneurial activity. However, the opportunity is not adequate. The numbers of women entrepreneurs from rural areas is very negligible. To increase the numbers of rural women entrepreneurs, their requires a coordinated action from different stockholders of the society. The society has to change its stereotyped mindset over women. The state governments have to take lead role in the development of women entrepreneurship in whole of Assam. Than only, the possibility of increase in entrepreneurial activity by rural women can be achieved.
